Celebrating 20 years of success

GALLIONS HOUSING ASSOCIATION

Editorial

Over the years the Thameasmead in Bloom competition has attracted the best and brightest gardens the neighbourhood has to offer. It is a great opportunity to showcase your work or even to enter someone else's garden. Make sure you get your entries in early this year - turn to the back page for more details.

February was an important month for one of Thamesmead' s most established community groups - the Lighthouse Carers and Toddlers Group celebrated its 20th anniversary. Congratulations to all the staff, parents and children who have helped make it the success it is today.

Vandalism rises as work starts at Tavy Bridge

Since starting work at Tavy Bridge, the contractors have experienced a number of incidents of anti-social behaviour and vandalism. Both Gallions and Wates are doing everything possible to tackle this on-going problem. If you have witnessed, or are aware of, any form of anti-social behaviour going on around Tavy Bridge, or indeed anywhere in Thamesmead, there are a number of steps you can take.

- Call Gallions anti-social behaviour hotline on 0208 320 3441. Your message will be recorded automatically and details forwarded to the relevant person or authority. (This service is not responsive and the hotline should not be used to call for help in an emergency.)
- Call Gallions Customer Contact Centre on 0800 83 84 81 where a member of the team will take details of the antisocial behaviour and pass it on to the relevant people. If you are the victim of anti-social behaviour, please ask to see your housing co-ordinator who will provide you with a log to record all the details.

Working together we want to stamp out anti-social behaviour.

Plastic bags, bins & pigeons

Team Gallions spend a lot of their time dealing with discarded rubbish. All the tower blocks have chutes for small bags of household rubbish. Large items block these chutes with the result the household waste is dumped. While it is not Team Gallions responsibility to shift this rubbish, it is both a health hazard and a safety risk and cannot be left lying around by the chutes or on pavements. When Team Gallions are clearing chutes and the rubbish left around the paladins they are not removing graffiti, caring for the parks and open spaces, clearing up dog mess and generally keeping Thamesmead tidy.

Another distraction for Team Gallions is pigeon mess. It is becoming a real problem in Thamesmead and residents are asked not to feed the pigeons. Jet spraying the pavements is expensive and time consuming and once again it is resident who will have to pay the costs.

You're never too old to learn something new

Having spent all his life working in the building industry, 63 year-old Liam Mitchell (pictured right) had never laid hands on a computer. However, from the window of his flat in Whinchat Road, Liam would watch the UK Online bus arriving every Thursday. UK Online offers free computer access and training to those without a computer.

While apprehensive, Liam knew that it was important to learn how to use a computer – the world was moving on and he wanted to move with it! It was this realisation that spurred Liam into action and through the doors of UK Online's traveling computer bus.

Liam says it was the best move he could have made. After just 3 weeks his confidence has increased, his typing is getting more accurate and he has just signed up for a five-week course at Woolwich. "The scheme is absolutely brilliant," says Liam. "It allows you to go at your own pace. There is no pressure at all which helps takes away the fear factor."

You can find the UK Online bus every Thursday opposite the shops on Whinchat Road from 10am to 12.30pm. On Fridays it is based in the Moorings on Titmuss Avenue. For more information please contact Andy Macdonald on 07958 745404.

Talking Heads

Gallions runs a regular communications panel where residents are invited to discuss all aspects of the association's communication. What works, what doesn't and what could be better. It provides invaluable feedback and helps Gallions deliver information in a way that residents want.

The next panel meeting will be held on 28th March at Harrow Manor Way. If you would like to join Gallions communication panel, please call Caroline Wilson on 0208 320 3409 before 20th March. Panel members will receive £20 to cover expenses for the half-day meeting.

Lighthouse

A shining example of community child care

Twenty years ago a group of local mums were running an informal carers and toddlers group from a home in Hinksey Path. Today, the group meets twice a week at Emmanuel Church with an average of 30 children turning up for each session. Now funded by North Bexley's Sure Start Scheme, Lighthouse attracts mums and children from far beyond Thamesmead. Lighthouse Manager Jackie Robson has been involved with Lighthouse since the early days bringing her children along to play while she enjoyed the company of other mums and carers.

Jackie says "Many lasting friendships have been formed along the way with parents and children coming back to support our events over the years. There is a real community feel here and it is a great support network and social meeting place for mums and carers." The Lighthouse tradition for Jackie goes on as her granddaughter Ella now also comes along to the group.

Lighthouse's 20-year birthday was celebrated on Wednesday 22nd February. The day was filled with cake, candles and many memories as members past and present came along to mark the occasion.

YOUR TAKE ON THAMESMEAD

Thamesview is gathering opinions and points of view from key community figures in Thamesmead.

This month we speak to Thamesmead East Safer Neighbourhood Sergeant Mark Eley.

What is your greatest fear?
I have no fears for the future of Thamesmead as its need have been recognised and there is a commitment from all to work together to achieve those needs

What is your greatest dream?
My dream for Thamesmead is that it can reach its potential of being a committed, engaged community

What would you like to see achieved in ten years time?
I would like to see the local community engaged with the decision-making that affects their area

How do you think this can be achieved?
This can be achieved by those who are involved in Thamesmead's future remaining committed to developing long-term relationships within the community.

Party Invitation

Lighthouse is holding a BBQ and band evening with food, fun and dancing for all the families that have enjoyed the group over the years. Parents, grandparents and former children are all welcome to come along to Lighthouse's Summer Birthday Celebration on Saturday 1st July 2006. To receive your free ticket, please contact the Church office on 0208 311 3976 for more details. Tickets will be issued on a first come first served basis.

Hook, Line and Sinker

Gallions Fishing Club will be open for business again on 19th April at Thamesmere Lake (behind the leisure centre). The club will be meeting every Wednesday evening between 4pm and 8pm and is open to anyone aged between 8 and 16 years old – written parental consent is needed to join. Each session costs £1 and, if you are over 12 years old you will need to have a valid fishing licence.

Whether you are a complete beginner or an experienced fisher, why not come along and enjoy an evening of casting off and reeling in. For more information, please contact Gallions Wardens on 0208 320 3431.

Minister of Culture visits Thamesmead Library

David Lammy, MP for Tottenham and Minister for Culture paid Thamesmead a flying visit last month as he visited some of Bexley's libraries. Mr Lammy is spearheading a drive to make sure that libraries across the country are delivering a top class service. He is keen to avoid libraries being closed down unnecessarily. Meeting the staff of the Thamesmead Library at Tavy Bridge, Mr Lammy was particularly interested to hear more about the library's Teenage Reading Group. Earlier this year he said "It's important that I bang the drum for libraries and reading, just as you would expect an education minister to bang the drum for schools."

Targeting local issues

Because different areas within Thamesmead have different issues to deal with, Gallions has put in place a number of patch teams to address specific concerns. This targeted approach allows residents to work with Gallions in drawing up a local action plan to tackle local problems.

From April 2006 there will be patch teams working in all areas except Manorway where a patch team will be launched in the summer. Each patch team meets monthly and is made up of a mix of Gallions staff, Gallions Resident Board members and local residents.

The patch teams however, are not all about dealing with problems. They will be actively developing local events to help bring neighbours, friends and young people together throughout the year. If you would like to get involved to improve the area where you live please contact Gallions Resident Involvement team on 0800 83 84 81.

neighbourhood forums

There was a great turnout for the launch of Gallions 2006 Neighbourhood Forums programme. Details of the next round of neighbourhood forums will be sent out this month.

ONE2ONE

A case in hand

Deborah Frimpong has been a Thamesmead resident for some eight years. Four years ago, her financial position changed and it seemed like Deborah and her family would lose their home. Here she tells Thamesview how Gallions Welfare and Benefits Officer Derek Stainsby took her case to tribunal and won.

Deborah and her husband the Reverend John Frimpong were devastated to find themselves in financial difficulties. With a drastically reduced income, their priority was to feed their six children and to try and keep a roof over their heads. Inevitably, they fell into to debt and were unable to keep up their rent payments. As they fell further and further into arrears, Deborah applied for housing benefit to try and get them out of their financial difficulties.

Deborah says: "I took details of my income and receipts of my shopping bills and credit cards to demonstrate how we were living from hand to mouth. Amazingly, they didn't believe my income was that low and refused me housing benefit time and time again." By this time Deborah was feeding her family on about £20 pounds a week with noodles and bread making up a large part of their diet. "We simply couldn't pay the rent and by now Gallions had started proceedings to collect what was owed to them."

It was a terrible situation and Deborah felt like she was caught between a rock and a hard place. It was at this point that Deborah learnt about Gallions Welfare and Benefits service. She got in touch with Derek Stainsby who agreed to take on her case. "Derek was committed to our case right from the very start. He knew we were telling the truth about our income. He was so thorough in his research that he was able to build a really strong case."

In 2003 the case went to tribunal where Deborah won a convincing victory. Her rental arrears were paid along with all legal fees and £600 compensation. Deborah is philosophical about her experience, recognising that the rules and procedures are in place to stop benefit fraud. She is adamant however, that the system needs to be reviewed to ensure that genuine cases are quickly identified and help is given as soon as possible.

"If you find yourself in difficulties it is important to seek help straight away. You must keep receipts and records of all your transactions. We could not have got through this period without Derek and if I could carry the moon and give it to him, I would."

PAYMENTPOINTS

- If you have missed a rental payment Gallions advises that you get in touch with their Debt Helpline on 0208 320 3687. Specialist advisors are on hand to talk you through the options available to you. Remember, Gallions can only help if you get in touch with them.
- Gallions has extended its Direct Debit service to include weekly payments as well as monthly. For many it's the ideal way to pay their rent as it provides a Direct Debit Guarantee that covers the customer for any mistakes or errors made by either the bank, building society or Gallions.

Did You know?

- At the end of December 2005 the total UK personal debt was a staggering £1.6 billion.
- Average household debt in the UK is approximately £7,786.
- Britain's personal debt is increasing by £1 million every 4 minutes.

As this month sees the start of the Fairtrade Fortnight, we thought we would find out more about a movement that is steadily making its voice heard in the supermarkets and the High Streets.

Fairtrade FACTS

1. Fairtrade is a way of doing business that makes sure farmers in poorer countries get a fair deal for their products and can work their way out of poverty.

2. This year's Fairtrade Fortnight runs between the 6th and 19th March.

3. By setting standards for each Fairtrade product, farmers are treated fairly, the environment is cared for, and prices are kept high enough to provide an income.

4. 5 million people worldwide now benefit from Fairtrade.

5. The price of Fairtrade products often includes money to help support community projects, such as building a local school.

6. There are now over 1300 Fairtrade certified products available, from food and drink to flowers and even sports balls.

7. We drink over 3 million Fairtrade hot drinks and eat almost half a million Fairtrade bananas every day.

8. While today many more people have heard of Fairtrade, the symbol has actually been in use since 1994.

9. Britain is the biggest European Fairtrade market, with all the major supermarket chains now selling Fairtrade products.

10. 50% of adults in the UK now recognise the Fairtrade mark.

11. 6 out of the 33 London boroughs have now got Fairtrade status.

12. In 2005, some 7500 events took place during Fairtrade Fortnight – everything from paradaes to tea dances.

The Change Project one year on

It has now been a year since the government introduced one of the biggest shake-ups in income benefit payments for decades. Order books and cheques are a thing of the past to be replaced by direct payment into bank and post office accounts.
The Change Project was set up to offer help and advice to those opening a bank account for the very first time. Helen Chambers, Gallions representative on the Change Project says ' Many people did not realise the added benefits of having a bank account. Not only does it provide greater security against fraud but it can open up the way to paying bills online or through direct debit. Discounts are often offered on bills paid by direct debit.'

If you would like advice on opening a bank account please contact Helen Chambers on 07818 424304 or email hchambers@gallionsha.co.uk
